Nashville .--- Announcement. this Department will commence on the first Monday in April next, and conclude the last day of July, 1864. The times have added greatly to the importance of the Medical Profession. The services of the Junior Members are in active demand, and the Faculty, under the circumstances, have not felt themselves at liberty to permit the ample means of instruction under their control to remain inactive the larger part of the year. Evy effort will be made to sustain the established reputation of the Institution for the thorough instruction of its pupils. The absence from home of so many private preceptors has induced the Faculty to arrange for beginners in the College.

War and Weapons.

Since the first fratricide mankind has been studying the best means of destroying his fellow-man. The chase first taught him the use of missile weapons, and ever since we have TERMS OF THE DAILY DEMOCRAT been improving on it.

vance of the time; and again with a second notice

These men in Kentucky who denounce the use of the negro have by hundreds not only sent their sons but gone themselves into the war for the Union. The Abolitionists may rail at the master; but the latter has not been mean enough to call on the negro to risk his life and shed his blood for a Government that is not and never can be his. These Abolitionists are mighty patriots, who are ready and willing to furnish vast armies if they only can accomplish their party purposes. Let them do what they promised, and not call on Kentucky negroes to save the Government.

The attempt to get up a hostility between those who hold slaves and those they call poor people in this State, is of a piece with the rest of the Jacobinical projects. The hypocrites would fain be great friends of the poor! They ought to begin by showing a little of their philanthropy at home. They even rob the poor soldier of his bounty by means of an orgarized system of plunder, which, if they do not connive at, they do not try to prevent. It is a cherished object with these Jacobine to represent that the slaveholders are rebels. non-slaveholders and negroes loyal. As we knew that to be a falsehood, as far as this State is concerned, we let it pass; for if the contrary were proved by individual names, it would still be asserted by these Jacobins; for if facts be against their assertions, it is all the worse for the facts. It is the non-slaveholders of this State, and those who enlist or who may be compelled to go to the field, that object to this negro company. They are not in the habit of keeping Minie bullet before any of his elders. that company at home. These Abolitionists think enough what they cost, they can return them and we will refund of their Government to hire a negro to save it. They think enough of themselves to pay $300 to keep out of danger, and then rail at such patriotic men as Wolford, who has spent nearly three years of danger and suffering in of French bayonets that won their victories. the field against the rebellion. If old Satan doesn't get these hypocrites, he had as well be some English before him without much rediscontinued as a useless institution.

The New York Tribune has a correspondent who pretends to have been compelled to serve in a place in the rebel war department at Richmond; but happily he escaped from that place, and now has marvelous tales to tell. Greeley pretends to believe all he says. He tells about that plot to catch Lincoln in Washington and carry him off. He tells how the rebels employ negroes to fight; that there were four companies of them at Stone river that did exploits, according to the testimony of Bragg. These are only some of the more prominent yarns. The letter of T. Butler King, looking to peace, he pronounces a forgery, got up for the benefit of Copperheads. The Abolitionists get in a rage at any prospect of the South being willing to make peace. He pronounces also a forgery a petition to be sent to the rebel Congress in behalf of peace. The whole story wears a falsehood on its face. Greeley pretends to believe it; but he knows Parties are busily engaged running off negroes from this vicinity. As by the law, or what purports to be law, they are to be enrolled for the service of the Government, it would seem not allowable to run them off. It is felony by State laws, and it is a military offense by the laws of the United States. Is law to be enforced or disregarded according as it may be injurious to Kentucky?

We publish an article from the National Intelligencer on the plot that was hatched between McClellan and Lee after the battle of Antietam. We had not followed up the development of the matter as the Intelligencer has done. The story started well and promised a good deal. It is only one of thousands that are to come about McClellan. Governor Curtin has appointed Hon. Wm. F. Johnston, of Pittsburg, Ex-Governor of Pennsylvania, as Corporator for that State in the proposed company for the improve ment of the navigation of the Ohio river.

Evansville, Ind., a usually quiet and orderly town on the Ohio river, has at last gone into the business of "making history," in a manner which will not add anything to its fair fame. "A Plot! A Plot!"

"A Plot! A Plot!"

Every reader of English history is famillar with the large space filled in it by "plots." There was the plot of the "Main," in the time of James I., said to have been concocted chiefly by Sir Walter Raleigh and Lord Cobbam for the placing of Arabella Stuart on the British throne with the assistance of the Sparish Government. Then came the plot of the "Bye," otherwise known as "The Surprise" or "Surprising Treason," led by Broke and Sir Griffin Markham, with a design to surprise and imprison the King and to remodel the Government. Fellest of all was "the Gunpowder plot," engineered by Catesby and appointed to be "touched off" by Guy Fawkes—a scheme for destroying at one blow the King, the royal family, the Lords and Commons, when assembled on the first meeting of Parliament in the year 1604. At a later day, in the time of Charles II., "plots" became endemic in England. Prospero, in his enchanted island, was not more haunted by specters than the British people by "plots." There was the "Popish Plot" of Titus Oater, according to which London was to be fired in several places by mysterious fire-balls (called Tewkes-bury mustard pills in the secret dialect of the conspirators). The Protes'ants were to be massacred all over the kingdom, and "the Black Bastard" (that is, in the same dialect, the King) was to be succeeded by the Duke of York, on condition of receiving the crown as a git of Bastard" (that is, in the same dialect, the King) was to be succeeded by the Duke of York, on condition of receiving the crown as a glit of the Pope. This plot, says Hume, "had a great influence upon the elections," insomuch that "all the zealots of the former Parliament were returned." Next followed the "Meal-Tub Plot," invented by one Dangerfield and adapted to the credulity of the times, the Presbyterians taking the place of the Catholics, as the suppositifious "devils of the piece." This "plot," too, we need not say, was an electioneering artifice of the Church and Court parly, who, in view of its terrible disclosures, broke out in a purple rash of loval addresses to his Majesty, King Charles II., pledging the most dutiful submission to his prerogstives, the most implicit confidence in prerogatives, the most implicit confidence in his wisdom and the deepest abhorrence of those who endeavored to encroach on his supermacy by petitioning for a ressembling of the Parliament. Hence the division of parties in England at this crisis under the results.

The Gazette says: "Just imagine a convulsion of nature of sufficient magnitude to bury these remains as they now lie, and phancy the phelinx of a future Agassiz, who, in his geological researches, strikes either of the termin, and attempts to exhume the entire 'snake.'"

Confirmatory evidence of this dark transaction was furnished two days afterwards by the author of the exposure, who appropriately sought the columns of the Washington Chronicle to put the veracious history of the "plot" —A fine quality of salt is now made at St. Clair, Michigan, from rich brine found at a depth of six hundred and eighty-two feet. "I wish to correct many errors therein. 1. I am not a cousin of General Robert Lee. 2. No interview could have taken place between the parties during the battle of Antietam at my house, as I live about ten miles from that place. 3. The interview took place three or four days afterwards, and was rather at the four days atterwards, and was rather at the suggestion of a mutual friend than courted by either party. 4. At the time of the meeting, Gen. McClellan was alone, and General Lee came through the lines of the United States army under my escort, I having received a solemn pledge of personal safety from Gen. McClellan for us both. 5. The communication will be brought before the war Committee to testify all that he knows. It is said that Mr. Waldron informed the Secretary of War that during the interview Gen. The Evansville Times, of the 17th inst., publishes the following correspondence relating to the mail service between this city and Evansville, Ind. The Democrat more than two months since took occasion to bring the subject before the people immediately interested in the matter; and we are glad to see that the subject has been brought before the proper authorities, and hope it may lead to mprovements which are imperatively demanded. We feel confident that the Postoffice Department is ready to grant the increased facilities, if the price demanded is not too exorbitant; and we hope that a few dollars more or less will not be permitted to disappoint the expectations of the people, whose aterests are deeply involved in the matter: WASHINGTON, March 11, 1864.

Thieves of every discription and criminals of all ages walk our streets with perfect impunity; houses are entered in broad daylight and robbed, persons are assaulted on the most frequented thoroughfares of the city, and comparatively but few arrests are made. On Tnesday a house on Tenth street was entered by some thieves, and over $3,000 in notes, jewelry, &c., was stolen. The parties came in the front door, which was open, (the inmates being at dinner) went up stairs, broke open the bureau drawers and stole a gold watch, a fine gold pencil, and $2,700 worth of notes and mortgages. The gold pencil has been recovered, but as yet no arrests have been made It is supposed that the robbery was committed by some boys belonging to the gang known as the forty thieves.

Amusements.

WOOD'S THEATER .- Miss Mary Provost last night peared in two characters very widely spart, and erein gave the most satisfactory evidence of wonderful versatility of talent. As Constance, in the Love Chace, she was all that could be desired, and as Nelly O'Neil, in Green Bushes, she captivated her audience by deep pathos and sympathetic songs. To-night she appears as Robert Brierly, the Lancashire lad, in the "Ticket-of-Leave Man." To our mind her assumption of this character is most correct, and according to the author's conception, who wrote the part for a young man (Ne. ville) of great ability now playing at the Olympic

THE GREAT MILTONIAN TABLEAUX AT MASONIC TEMPLE LAST EVENING .- This exhibition, which opened at Masonic Temple last evening, is one of the finest things it has ever been our lot to witness It is got up on a scale of magnificence and splen dor we have never seen equaled. Commencing with a picture of the gathering of the angels around the Almighty's throne to hear a new decree, it il lustrates Milton's immortal poem of Paradise Losi from beginning to end. The scenes representing heaven, the war of the angels and the casting out of heaven of satan and his hosts, are perfectly sublime. The landscape scenery of the Garden of Eden is beyond description the best thing we have ever witnessed. In fact the whole exhibition is one of marked excellence, and should be seen by all We doubt whether Masonic Temple will hold RASCAL CAUGHT.-We learn from F. W. Bowen, E:q., Superintendent of the Jeffersonville railroad, that the authorities near Columbus, Indians, have arrested and put in jail a being in human form, who was seen a day or two ago attempting to throw a passenger train off the track. He is believed to be the same miscreant who caused the accident some few nights since at Taylorsville. It is suppose that he is one of a gang in that neighborhood who are attempting mischief to the road and passengers. It will be singular if they escape the vigilance of Mr. Bowen, who is on the alert for them. There is no human penalty severe enough for such fiends.

DIARRHOLA AND DYSENTERY - We have examined a great number of letters from some of the most prominent citizens of Cincinnati and Covington, etc., speaking in the highest terms of Dr. Strickland's Auti-Cholera Mixture for the cure of diarrhea and dysentery. The letters are too long to publish. My form of diarrhæs and dysentery.

Feather dusters-a fine assortment at Rogers' House-Furnishing Store, 213 east side Fourth street, near Main. mr23 d2

To gentlemen or ladies who have had much experience in the world, it is not necessary to say that good articles are the most economical. In their manufacturing operations, Messrs. Green & Green have invariably striven to make the best articles that could be produced, knowing that appreciative customers would be willing to pay for quality. Their ers would be willing to pay for quality. Their hats, caps, shirts and underwear are well and carefully made, and of the best materials. Their establishment is at the southwest corner of Main and Fourth streets.

Good News -I have just received an additional supply of Scotch plaid ribbons.

PRIVATE DISEASES

DR. LUDLUM'S SPECIFIC THE ONLY RELIABLE REMEDY DISEASES OF

The Organs of Generation.

It is the discovery of an eminent Physician, whose life was devoted to the treatment of this class of diseases, for more than twenty years, and with unprece dented success.

It is perfect in itself, requiring no injections, and difference of the numer o fers entirely from the mistaken practice, and the numer-our worthless compounds offered to the public.

It is entirely vegetable and perfectly safe. It acts like a charm, and imparts strength and vigor to the dis-eased organs. It is the remedy for the unfortunate, and none need OAUTION.—The great success of this remedy in effecting permanent cures has led to imitations by ignorant and unprincipled men. Observe, therefore, that the signature of the proprietor is around each box. None other is genuine.

XXXVIIIth Congress-First Session. WASHINGTON, March 23. SENATE.

Mr. Howard addressed the Senate at length in opposition to the bill of Mr. Powell to prevent military interference in State elections.

The bill establishing a Bureau of Military Justice was reported from the Military Com-Mittee.

A joint resolution was passed appropriating $20,000 for the expenses of the Committee on the Conduct of the War.

A bill appropriating $200,000 to establish a navy yard at Cairo was introduced. The bill in relation to deserters, providing for the disfrenchisement of those refusing to return, and for exemption from punishment of those who return, was taken up.

Mr. Wilson advocated the bill, stating that there were many deserters in Canada desirous of returning to serve out their time in the army, &c.; if the President should name some place near the borders of Canada as a rendezvous for them, that quite a body of men would return to duty. would return to duty.

Mr. Clark opposed the bill; no action taken on the bill.

The bill to prevent military interference in elections was taken up. Mr. Howard opposed it. He believed it obnoxious to the Constituion, and that Congress had no power over Mr. Howard gave way for executive session.

HOUSE. Mr. McClary, of Missouri, rising to a personal explanation repeated, he sought to prove the charge he heretofore made against his colleague, Mr. Blair, of having violated the treasury regulations by smuggling liquors into the army, and produced an army order, signed by Gen. Rosecrans, to show the falsity of Mr. Blair's remarks; and that persons of color had not been removed from Missouri and sold into slavery. He had the same compassion for Mr. Blair as he had for a condemned criminal and indulged in severe persons.

demued criminal, and indulged in severe per-sonal reflections on his colleague. Mr. Blair asked that a special committee be appointed to examine the charges of his col-league, who had uttered a base and wilful falsehood. His colleague had taken the place of the forger and falsifier. He, (Mr. Blair), pronounced Mr. McClary an infamous liar The Speaker said such language was against

THE sale of the Plantation Bitters is without preceden $ in the history of the world. There is no secret in the matter. They are at once the most speedy strengthen. ing health-restorer ever discovered. It requires but a single trial to understand this. Their purity can always be relied upon. They are composed of the celebrated Callsapa Bark, Cascarilla Bark, Dandelion, Chamomile Flowers, Lavender Flowers, Wintergreen, Anise, Clover buds, Orange-peel, Snake-root, Caraway, Corlander

S .- T .- 1860 - X. &C.

They are especially recommended to clergymen, pub-ic speakers, and persons of literary habits and sedentary ife, who require free digestion, a relish for food, and clear mental faculties. Delicate females and weak persons are certain to find in these Bitters what they have so long looked for. They purify, strengthen and invigorate. They create a hea thy appetite.

They are an antido'e to change of water and diet. They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours

They strengthen the system and enliven the mind. They prevent miastnatic and intermittent fevers. They purify the breat's and acidity of the stomach. They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation. They cure Diarrhea, Cholera and Cholera Morbus, They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache. They are the best Bitters in the world. They mak

Many of the Union soldiers have been recognized, their names having been discovered when removing them from letters, photographs, medals, devices, clothing, and other things burifed with them, as they were bastily thrown into ditches after the battle. Quite an amount of money was also found on them, both in coin and paper, in sums ranging from the fraction of a dollar up to flifty dollars. Thirty-six dollars in gold were found in the pataioons pocket of one corpse, and thirty to forty dollars in the garments of others, besides many relics, mementoes, &c. All this money and these relics have been taken care of by the committee, properly labeled, and held in safe keeping for the relatives, should they ever call for them. Reynolds fell; but it being rather obscure and out of the way, Mr. Wills has suggested an elevated location the cemetery originally designed for such it being rather obscure and out of the way, Mr. Wills has suggested an elevated location in the cemetery originally designed for such a purpose, and he thinks it will be agreed upon. From evidence developed to the workmen and others engaged in removing the dead bodies on the battlefield, they are now fully convinced that not less than seven thousand rebels lost their lives in this conflict, the bodies of whom are still there. In one space of three acres was found three hundred and twenty-five Confelerate slair; and elsewhere, in a single trench, two hundred and fifty more. A considerable portion of the battle-ground is likely to be plawed up this spring and summer by farmers owning it, preparatory to planting corn and other grain. As a matter of course, the Confederate graves must be obliterated, and the trenches which now indicate their burial places. There is a strong desire with the poople, in respect to humanity, to have these bodier, though of the enemy, respectfully and decently put away in some inclosure where they may not be disturbed—where they can sleep in quietude. Many strangers from all parts of the country still continue to visit Gettysburg to behold the scenes and relics of the terrible conflict so triumphant in behalf of our country, and of republican liberty.

It is rumored that Mr. D'Israeli is to be created a peer, and become the British patronage of our Secretary of foreign affairs.
